FRIGHT FACTORY

November 3, 2017

	Category	Rating Scale	Comments
1)	Design		Designs fit the scenes and made for a very terrifying environment.
2)	Theme		Themes throughout fit each attraction and helped to lead victims from one attraction to the next.
3)	Actors		Actors did a great job in scaring at just the right points and were very effective in their scaring techniques as well as doing a great job while not breaking character.
4)	Scare Factor		The scare factor was great. There were a few holes here and there but, even with that, it could be seen that the actors knew how to deliver the scares to all who came through each attraction.
5)	Overall Rating		The Haunt Rater has given Fright Factory a 4 out of 5 for doing a great job in being able to deliver great scares and show us a good time!

On Friday, November 3rd, 2017, the Haunt Rater and his crew made their way into Philadelphia, PA to explore the terror that is found within "Fright Factory!" Fright Factory can be found right in the city and sometimes that is just scary enough but, to add an attraction such as Fright Factory to that mix, just adds to the scares that can be felt in a single night.

As we began our evening, it was clear that the scares began even before entering the attraction. The monsters within don't wait for you...they come for you! So, you better watch out! "Industrial Nightmare" is one attraction where the scares are delivered and the demons within are lurking, searching for what they hope will be their next victim to live a damned life just as they do. You will wind your way through true nightmares only found in the deep recesses of your mind. They will terrify you and you will spend your time, looking for the way out to escape the horror that is found around every turn.

We then were able to discover more horrors within "Silent Screams Asylum." Where the demented and mentally insane are found. While you make your way through, you will need to try your hardest to steer clear of those who are looking to capture any unsuspecting souls who are destined to face their wrath! You can run but, there is nowhere to hide. They will find you! Pray that you are still in one piece...if you ever find your way out.

Our final attraction of the night was "Fright Factory Unearthed" and we saw its unearthing as we made our way through. From ghosts to ghouls to lost souls, we saw all unleashed and no mercy was given. No amount of begging, no amount of praying will change the minds of those looking to take your soul as their own. You will be lucky to make it out alive! Count your blessings...or you will be found counting your nightmares!

Fright factory is not an attraction to be trifled with. It is an attraction for those looking to get scared and have a good time experiencing what horror looks like face to face. The Haunt Rater has given Fright Factory a 4 out of 5. "This place definitely delivers the scares that you won't want to miss out on!"
