FRIGHTLAND

On Saturday, October 21st, 2017, the Haunt Rater and his crew made the trip down to Middletown, Delaware to see what Frightland was all about. We had heard many things about it and have passed it many times in the past seeing an amazing site but, never knowing what all the hype was about. Well, on Saturday we finally got to see all the hype for ourselves and now we can say that it was more than worth the trip.

Our first attraction of the evening was the Horror Hayride which, it seems this year we keep experiencing better hayrides than we have ever seen before. Hayrides are historically proven to be harder to scare people but, Frightland has done it so effectively. It is quite an impressive attraction and set up with some really great actors who not only scare well but, entertain well too!

After descending the horrors of the hayride, we made our way to Ravenwood Cemetery. Just when you thought it was safe to visit the cemetery after dark...you come to find that really, it was never safe at all! Step into a place where all the dead arise once again to bring you down to the very depths of hell where they came from and where you too shall go! Do not take this place lightly or...it might just take you!

Next we were sent to experience "FEAR"! Have you ever experience true fear? Nightmares that actually come true? Every scary thing that you could ever think of will be there. We would advise not going through alone. Take someone strong but, we have even seen some of those who claimed to be strong and brave cower in fear so, there really is not a whole lot of hope for anyone who visits here.

We then made our way to Zombie Town where the entire town is full of nothing but, zombies waiting for their next meal. We had to constantly narrowly escape being eaten by zombies as we made our way through their treatorous town. We hardly made it out in one piece, let alone with any pieces left. It was a great experience.

After we went to the Zombie Prison where we were instructed of how to be safe while among the inmates that were held captive within. Between the prison guards and the prisoners, we did not know who was worse. Being chased, the fear of being held captive ourselves, and the doubt that we would ever make it out alive. The zombie prison was just one of those things that everyone needs to visit and learn for themselves, the terror that is within.

We went over to visit Idalia Manor. We saw horrible experiments gone wrong, spirits with so much unrest that they were destined to spend eternity looking for other souls to join them. Ghouls and ghosts came from every side, hole, hiding spot imaginable. Just when we thought we were in the clear for a small breather, another ghoul would pop its head out to scare us, sending chills down our very spines and having us scream louder than we ever have before. Don't miss out on Idalia Manor!

The Haunted Barn was terrifying! It scared us to our core! It also left us wanting more and more! The terror that this place gives off just makes you beg for more scares and we are here to tell you to be careful for what you wish for because this place delivers without a doubt, a great deal of scares! Twists and turns and dark areas give off the worst of nightmares come true. It was one of those terrifyingly addicting places where you could really get the most scares for your buck!

The last stop was the Attic which added to the horror that we had been privy to all night long. Growing up as a child, we have all had fears of two places in our homes. The basement and the attic and this attic was no different and does not make those fears go away any time soon. If you are looking for great fears and nightmares that will truly haunt you for years to come, then this is the place for you. If you are not looking to add to your fears of the darkest places of your home then, stay home! This is not granny's sweet old home where you can visit and go home feeling all good inside.

Frightland is a truly terrifying place with 8 grueling attractions waiting to deliver true fear that only the bravest hope to ever encounter. But, even the bravest will not last long here! There is no doubt that Frightland is the land where horror lives, thrives and achieves the best nightmares that can be dreamt on this earth! The Haunt Rater has presented Frightland with a 6 out of 5 rating! They went above and beyond and proved that they have more than earned their name over and over again and being named one of the best attractions to see in 2017! "Put this place on your bucket list now!"

We also suggest taking enough time to enjoy all of the delicious food that is available and the carnival attractions that are also there for your enjoyment and entertainment.
