REVIEW 2018

On October 26, 2018 the Haunt Rater and his crew made their way up to McClure, PA to visit a friend of ours...Shockwalk Haunted Trail. You never know what to expect. As we entered the premises, we could hear the screams in the distance. That meant fear was not too far ahead. We made our way over to the newly constructed ticket booth, complete with new souvenirs that survivors could take home as a token of their adventure within the haunted trail.

Prior to entering we received our instructions and warnings as well as being prepared for what may lie ahead, waiting our entry. We began our journey of the evening being greeted by psychopaths who had made the haunted trail their home. A mad doctor created an outdoor lair that had us wondering what madness could be waiting for us as we made our way through.

We saw hideous sights as well as monsters that could make you run for your life. We wended our way through, only to be greeted time after time by the damned experiments gone wrong by the Mad Dr. Crow. We wandered around in fear, not knowing what awaited us as we neared the end of our journey. We had the opportunity to come in contact with a haunted tree, which was sucking the life out of its victims and keeping their limbs as trophies of its victories over them.

As we made our way to the end we came in contact with some of our favorite creatures who are to make you laugh but, really strike fear into your heart...The Clown Posse! It was a sight to see! We barely made it out alive, yet alone with our limbs still intact.

We had a great time at Shockwalk Haunted Trail and visiting our friends once again!
